

RepVisits and the Counselor Community

Overview

RepVisits is a free tool to help high schools manage the college visit process. High schools can publish their visit availability so college admissions counselors can schedule visits without the time-consuming back and forth communication typically required. RepVisits is also part of the Counselor Community, an active community of high school and college professionals collaborating to increase access to higher education.

Key Benefits

Make Visit Scheduling Easy

Setup your availability in 15 minutes and publish so that higher ed reps can easily schedule within times that work for you.

Increase College Visits

High Schools using RepVisits have reported an increase in the number of college visits due to the increased ease of scheduling and the number of HE institutions searching for HS in RepVisits.

Research Colleges

The Counselor Community includes detailed profiles for all HS and HE institutions in the US (and some international) including updates specifically posted for counselors.

Collaborate with Peers

Over 10,000 high school counselors are active in the Counselor Community and participating in groups to ask questions and share best practices.
